Because of the great success of the last opening/fundraiser they have asked us to continue this program for a third year a juried exhibition of work from BWAC members that will be shown in the law offices of The Center for Appellate Litigation located at 120 Wall Street, 28th Floor, in New York City. The next opening will again be a major fundraising event. They have committed to purchased work for their permanent collection each year, also some of the partners and employees may individually purchase work as well. Any purchases will be announced at the end show.
